(c) A statement showing major recommendations of Bhuria Committee is annexed.

Statement

Major Recommendations made by the Bhuria Committee

1. The Constitution 73rd (Amendment) Act, 1992 envisages a 3-tier Panchayati Raj Institutions (P.R.Is.) whereas the Committee has envisaged 4-tiers. One tier below the Gram Panchayat level which is not envisaged in 1992 Act, has been recommended for the Scheduled Areas. This has been done to take care of the traditional Village Councils which have been performing varied functions-religious, political, economic, judicial etc. The Committee recommends that the Gram Sabha may nominate its Executive Council or Village Council which may be the traditional body and may delegate to it functions like execution of development works. The Committee also recommends the nomination of the members not exceeding five in the Autonomous District Councils to give representation to minority tribal communities who cannot find place in the election process. The nominations are to be made in consultation with the Governor.

2. (The Committee is of the view that association of the Scheduled Tribe Lok Sabha M.Ps, at the intermediate (block) Panchayat and District Councils be made. The representation of both Scheduled Tribes and non-S.T. MLAs in these two tiers should also be included.

3. The Committee while recommending functions envisaged under the 6th Schedule recommends to include subjects that are indicated in the 11th Schedule of the Constitution as the latter are more wide ranging. The powers, functions and procedures proposed for different tiers may be seen at Annexures A, B, C & D of the Committee's Report. It may be noted that one of the functions given to the Panchayati Raj institutions is consideration of requisitions for land acquisition for purposes other than defence, railways, roads, education and health institutions and approval of schemes of rehabilitation acceptable to the affected persons and implementation of the Scheme of rehabilitation and cognizance and adjudication of all civil disputes including debts and other liabilities and criminal offences not being heinous crimes like murder, dacoity. Education and Health sectors have been made the first charge on the funds received by the Panchayati Raj institutions.

4. It is suggested that funds given to the Panchayats including funds under first provision to Article 275(1) of the Constitution should be placed in the "charged" category to avoid any fear of misutilisation or diversion. It is also suggested that funds under TSP may be quantified and placed at the disposal of Autonomous District Council for distribution among the Panchayats in the Districts. Moreover to the extent possible, the Central and State Governments should devise procedures for direct allotment of funds to the Autonomous District Councils.

5. The Committee recommends that all Government servants and functionaries of institutions concerned with the functions of a Panchayat in a Scheduled Areas and located within its jurisdiction will be under its control.

6. The Committee further recommends that the remaining Tribal Sub Plan areas like MADA areas as well as similar other blocks (referring to clusters) should be included in the Scheduled Areas.

7. It is recommended by the Committee that the Tribes Advisory Council and the Autonomous District Council in the Scheduled Areas should review the existing laws for their relevance and applicability and take action necessary for exclusion of those that are not relevant and inclusion of those that are useful.

8. The Committee also suggests to constitute a Central Advisory Council primarily to advise on any disputes between State Government and die TAC or between the District Council and TAC. This will, while ensuring federal character of the State, will have the merit of resolving the disputes at the State level by way of consultation and dialogue between differing bodies closer to the ground reality and the grass roots.
